22nd Annual Southeast Vegetable & Fruit Expo

The 22nd Annual Southeast Vegetable & Fruit Expo will be held at the Myrtle Beach Convention Center, December 12-13, 2007.

The program theme will be "Pathways to a Prosperous Tomorrow." Topics will include Specialty Crop Opportunities, Key Issues Regarding Food Safety, Vine Crop & Watermelon Production Considerations, Organic Vegetable Production Considerations, Opportunities in High Tunnel Production, Crucifer Production, Marketing Opportunities, Tomato Production Considerations, and Special Topics including Mechanization to Reduce Labor Challenges, Drought Consideration, and Methods Coping with Limited Water Resources.

Keynote speaker will be Thomas Mack, Vice President of Technical Services of Dole Fresh Vegetables, Inc. A trade show will be open continuously throughout the Expo. Continuing Pesticide Recertification Credits and Continuing Education (CCA) credits will be offered.

Registration is $60 which includes NCVGA membership, yearbook, lunch and banquet for the first person to register in a firm/company. For each additional person that registers in the same firm/company, the registration fee is $30 per person. The registration fee for educators, county agents, and other state and federal agency representatives is $40 per person. Deadline for pre-registration is November 15. Registrations received after that date are subject to an additional fee. To ensure reduced room rates and availability, hotel reservations must be made before November 8 with the Sheraton Myrtle Beach Convention Center Hotel, 843-918-5000.

The Expo is sponsored by the NC Vegetable Growers Association and the SC Fruit, Vegetable & Specialty Crop Association. Others cooperating in the effort include: Clemson University, NC State University, NC Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, SC Department of Agriculture, and the NC Cooperative Extension Service.

For more information or to register for the Southeast Vegetable & Fruit Expo, call Cathy Price, 919-334-0099, cathyprice@bellsouth.net.

The Renaissance Man of Orangeburg County

As I travel South Carolina representing our industry, I encounter a number of unique individuals who are involved in farming one way or another. Now I know if there's more than one, 'unique' doesn't apply, but I hope you get the point. I was on the way home from a Commissioners' meeting last month when I saw an old friend at the Atlanta airport who fits the description.

Dr. John Till of Neeses is as animated and spirited as anyone I know. He has had two careers - nuclear engineering and farming. He is enthusiastic to talk about either one, but the gleam comes to his eyes when he talks farming. As for being a doctor, John says that some folks say he is "one of them doctors that can't do nobody no good." I believe he has done a lot of good for a lot of people.

Denver Downs Hosts Farm Fun Days

Another great fall farm opportunity is here! The Garrison Family is hosting their 4th Annual Corn Maze and Pumpkin Patch during Farm Fun Days at Denver Downs Farm, located on Highway 76, one mile north of Interstate 85 near Anderson. This fall destination is open Saturdays from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. and Sundays from 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. through December 3rd.

After visitors find their way through the human labyrinth, they are invited to explore and enjoy other attractions that include: a giant 6-acre Pumpkin Patch, a Giant Country Hay Barn designed for children of all ages, Hay Rides around the 100-acre site past the Corn Maze and through the Pumpkin Patch, covered adult relaxation adjacent to the children's area, a Corn-box (the only alternative to the traditional sandbox) and small child's play area.

The Garrisons also invite scarecrow enthusiasts to participate in their 2nd Annual Scarecrow Alley. Participants can let their imaginations run wild in designing scarecrows made with their own materials. The scarecrows, which will need to be as weatherproof as possible, will be on display through the month of October.

Scarecrows should be delivered to the Corn Maze at Denver Downs Farm during weekend hours October 13, 14, 20, and 21. All scarecrow entries will be mounted to posts and displayed along Scarecrow Alley. Corn Maze attendees will vote for their favorite scarecrow entry and those votes will be tallied and winners announced on Sunday, October 28th. First Prize is $300, Second Prize is $200, and Third Prize is $100.

For more information about Denver Downs Fun Farm Fall Days, the Corn Maze, Scarecrow Alley, and other agritourism opportunities on the Garrison Farm, contact Elizabeth Garrison, 864-933-2854, or Lee Smith, 864-940-2293. ## Wanted: Outstanding Conservationists!

The Soil and Water Conservation Society (SWCS) is now accepting nominations for outstanding conservationists for the 2007 SWCS Awards to be presented at the Conservation Partnership Conference in January.

The award criteria and nomination forms are available at <http://swcs.tripod.com/awards.html>. Several of the awards are applicable to non-SWCS members. Selected nominations may be sent on to a national award level for consideration.

All nominations are due no later than November 5, 2007. For more information, contact Al McNeill, SWCS Awards Committee Chair, 1835 Assembly Street, Room 950, Columbia, SC 29201.

All-American Pork Baby Back Ribs

4 pounds pork back ribs
Your favorite barbecue sauce (purchased or homemade)

Season ribs with salt and pepper. Place ribs on a medium-hot grill over indirect heat; close grill hood and grill until ribs are tender, about 1 1/2 to 2 hours. (add more charcoal briquettes to fire, if necessary, to maintain grill temperature of about 325-350 degrees F.) Finish by turning and basting ribs with barbecue sauce for the last 15 minutes.

Serve ribs directly from the grill or, for extra tender ribs remove from grill, wrap in heavy aluminum foil. Place foil-wrapped ribs in brown paper bags, close bags and let ribs rest for up to an hour.

Unwrap ribs, cut into serving pieces and serve with extra barbecue sauce. Serves 4.

Coward hosts Cane Syrup Days in November

Cane syrup production has a long and storied history in South Carolina. To watch how the “Sweetener of the South” has been made for centuries, stop by the Cane Syrup Days in Coward, November 10, 2007 from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Breakfast will be served featuring pancakes with cane syrup, sausage and biscuits. There will also be demonstrations of how cane syrup is made.

For more information or directions, call Marvin Russ, 843-389-3383. Cane Syrup Days will be held at 1059 West Old Number Four Highway before the Lynches River County Park.

Southeastern Citrus Exposition

The Southeastern Citrus Exposition will be held at USC-Aiken on Saturday, November 17, 2007. Registration will begin at 8:00 a.m. followed by the meeting at 9:00 a.m. Participants will be welcomed to the Expo by Bob McCartney or Woodlanders. Topics will include: "Successfully growing pink grapefruit in a home garden in Columbia, SC" with retired USC professor Richard Croxton and "An experimental commercial planting of Satsuma oranges in Lower SC" with Carl Heatwole of Olar.

Following a Panel Discussion, box lunches will be available for those who have made meal reservations at $7.50 each. Fruit contest winners and awards will be announced during the lunch. Entries must be received by 9 a.m. for participation in the contest. Contest rules and instructions can be found at the Southeastern Palm Society website, www.sepalms.org.

A raffle drawing for citrus plants will be held with proceeds helping to offset the costs of the Expo. An outdoor plant sale will be held from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. A shuttle bus tour of the citrus plantings in Aiken will include Rose Hill Estate and Hopelands Gardens.

A pre-expo dinner will be held on Friday, November 16, at Mi Rancho, 3607 Richland Avenue West in Aiken.

The Expo sponsors include: Woodlanders, Inc., The City of Aiken, Aiken County Clemson Extension Service, McKenzie Farms Nursery, Rahn's Plant Connection, and the Southeastern Palm Society.

To register, contact Stan McKenzie, 843-389-4831 or email citrusman99@hotmail.com by November 13.

Sease Farm Hosts High Seas Adventure

Fall is the time of the year for agritourism activities on farms around the state. The Farmer’s Shed is hosting “Maize Quest,” a Pirate Treasure Adventure, on the Clinton Sease Farm, Olde Farm Road in Lexington through November 18, 2007.

The Sease Family invites you to take to the high seas to discover the history and surprising customs of pirates. Maize-o-Vision secret decoders will help navigate visitors through the multi-acre Corn Maze puzzle. The adventure also includes a Kiddie Corn Maze, Tire Maze, Mist Maze, and Marshmallow Maze. Other activities include the John Deere Tricycle Raceway, Cornsnake, Rubber Duck Races, Campfires, and more.

Maize Quest is open Fridays from 5:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m., Saturdays from 10:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m., and Sundays from 2:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. Every Friday and Saturday night is Flashlight Night. Visitors are asked to bring their own flashlights for the nighttime activity. Admission is $8 per person. Ages 3 and under are free. Hayrides are also available for $2 per person.

To get to the Clinton Sease Farm, follow Highway # 1 west from Lexington past Lexington High School and turn left onto Olde Farm Road. Maize Quest is 1.2 miles on the right on Olde Farm Road.

For more information about this event, visit www.CornMaze.com or call 803-730-2863 or email farmersshed@alltel.net. To promote a SC agritourism activity, call the Market Bulletin, 803-734-2536.

SC Environmental Awareness Award Nominations Requested

SC Environmental Awareness Award nominations to recognize South Carolinians who are doing extraordinary work for the natural environment will be accepted through December 15, 2007.

The SC General Assembly established the SC Environmental Awareness Award, now in its 16th year, during the 1992 legislative session to recognize outstanding contributions made toward the protection, conservation and improvement of the state’s natural resources.

Each year the public is invited to submit nominations that are then reviewed by an awards committee, which includes representatives from the state's environmental and natural resource agencies. In judging nominees, the committee considers excellence in innovation, leadership and accomplishments that influence positive changes affecting the natural environment.

Members of the awards committee represent the SC Department of Natural Resources, SC Department of Health and Environmental Control, SC Forestry Commission and the SC Sea Grant Consortium.

Guidelines and nomination forms for the SC Environmental Awareness Award are available at <http://www.scdhec.net/environment/ocrm/>, or contact Braxton Davis at 843-953-0246 or davisbc@dhec.sc.gov.

South Carolina Forestry Commission Offers Free Environmental Consulting for Timber Harvesters

Landowners planning to cut timber can protect the environment by using water quality guidelines. Free services from the SC Forestry Commission can help prevent erosion and protect streams during timber harvesting.

The guidelines, called Best Management Practices (“BMPs”) for Forestry, help logging operations avoid environmental impacts. On request, Forestry Commission specialists will provide on-site recommendations and assistance with a free Courtesy Exam.

“BMPs are a part of good forest stewardship. They are designed to protect streams and also contribute to scenic beauty, wildlife habitat, and outdoor recreation,” says the Commission’s Guy Sabin. A Courtesy Exam almost always results in higher compliance with Best Management Practices.

The Forestry Commission also monitors logging operations and cooperates with SC Department of Health and Environmental Control to take action when failure to follow guidelines affects water quality. Experts say that South Carolina loggers get high marks with 98% overall BMP compliance.

For a Courtesy BMP Exam on your logging job, contact Guy Sabin at 803-896-8593.

The Renaissance Man

John was born in Orangeburg County. Spending his summers on his grandfather's farm, he developed a passion for working the land. He graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1967, served in the U.S. Navy Nuclear Submarine Program, and retired a Rear Admiral in the U.S. Naval Reserve. John had many honors, including the Distinguished Service Medal, the Legion of Merit, two Navy Meritorious Service Medals, two Navy Commendation Medals, and the Navy Achievement Medal.

After he left active duty in 1971, he became very interested in nuclear science. John received his Masters in Radiation Biology from Colorado State, his Ph.D in Nuclear Engineering from Georgia Tech, and worked at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory. His interest turned to radiological assessment, studying radioactive materials in the environment and how they affect humans. John studied how they affect the food chain or any pathway back to humans. At that time, there was really no field like this.

The Dr. John Till family on their farm in Neeses.

All the while, John's heart yearned for the farm life he knew as a child. His grandfather and uncle decided that they did not want to farm anymore, so they offered him another challenge - dairy farming. John accepted the challenge and moved his family to Neeses. "My wife and family thought I was nuts," he said. "My friends thought I was insane. But with a lot of support, I took on the challenge of the dairy farm."

The 70s and 80s were tough times for farming all around, and John said, "I didn't have a clue about farming. I was oblivious and arrogant and knew that I could take on anything! I said I can farm and I can create a scientific business as well." It was two years before he knew just how bad off the dairy farm was. This was about the time I met John, not long after I returned to our family dairy. We would share challenges we had in common.

Today, John attributes much of his farming success to Clemson Extension and his neighbors - people like my father, Lawrence Weathers. With help, he was able to start doing what needed to be done to get the farm turned around. John said, "I love to farm! Crave it! It's really stress relief to sit on a tractor! But I had a lot of help along the way."

His hard work paid off, with considerable improvement shown by the dairy farm. After his grandfather and uncle passed away, John sold the dairy cows. Today, he irrigates and cultivates corn and soybeans on about 500 acres of the 1,000-acre farm. He pulled up all the old fencing to better resist the temptation to get back into dairying - told you he was smart!

John says that he's been extremely fortunate. The farm brought him back to his roots, but it also gave him the opportunity to remain an independent scientist. Independence from government and industry allowed him to build a reputation for pure science. He now has 15 people involved in his company, Risk Assessment Corporation (RAC). Since its formation, RAC has played a key role in the evolution of methodologies for environmental risk analysis. Next year, his second textbook teaching this science will be published by Oxford University Press.

John's family has supported him all the way. His wife taught for 30 years and now with a Ph.D in Education she teaches at Claflin University in Orangeburg. One of his daughters is an attorney, one is working on her doctorate following her mother's path, and another daughter works at SC State. His son works for AgSouth Farm Credit. But they all still love the farm.

Dr. John Till is truly a Renaissance man - a physicist, naturalist, entrepreneur, environmentalist, author, and a really good farmer.

Hugh E. Weathers, Commissioner
